CONSOLIDATED REPORTS ON INFORMATION ON EXAMINATION REFORMS

The institution has changed how it administers exams and evaluates students in a number of ways. The university's internet portal is used to transmit the internal assessment results and attendance information. Exam fees can be seen on the institution portal and must be paid by NEFT or RTGS prior to the deadline. You can download hall tickets via the website.

Mobile jammers, metal detectors, and CCTV cameras are installed in the exam rooms. The chief superintendent logs onto the university website portal fifteen minutes prior to the exam, and the question paper is downloaded automatically.

The jammers and CCTV cameras are turned on half an hour before to the inspection. The exam papers are downloaded precisely fifteen minutes in advance, and the necessary number of copies are made of them. Every institution is required to keep a record of everything that happens in the test room starting thirty minutes before the exam starts and continuing until the answer book bundle is packed and sealed. On the same day that the answer books package is submitted to the parent university, a recorded CD is also sent. A recent change aimed at increasing transparency in assessment and evaluation is the online assessment of answer books.
